

"The outside of a horse is good for the inside of man."

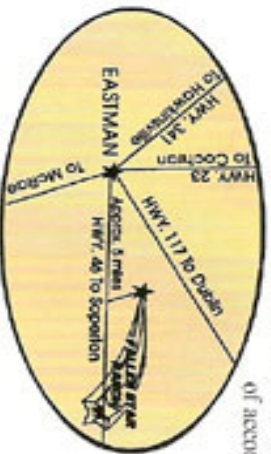

Miniature Horses are for the Entire Family

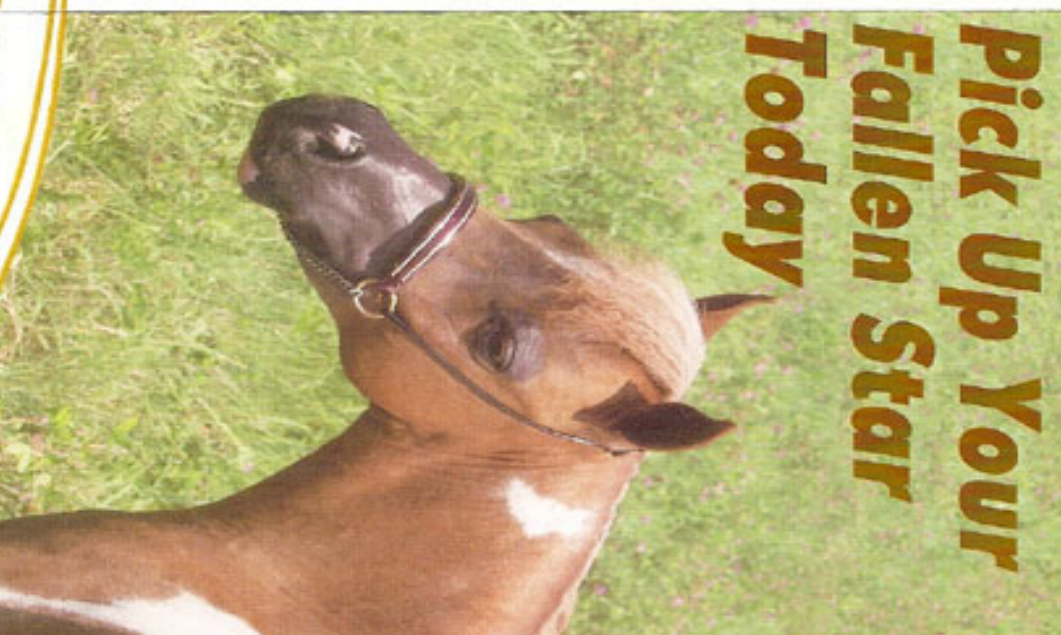

The preceding statement can be applied to any size horse and all people, whether young or old. A small child may be afraid of a standard size horse, yet the same child will show an eagerness to embrace and hug a miniature foal. Older people, no longer as mobile as they might like to be, who cannot continue to mount a full sized horse, can still enjoy driving a Miniature Horse and showing it in Pleasure Driving, Roadster or Obstacle Classes. The handicapped person can also be very competitive in the showing or perhaps they just want the feeling of mobility one gets while driving a mini around the neighborhood.

Showing a Miniature Horse can be a family affair, as the classes offered are for all ages; youth and adult showmanship, driving, halter and costume classes. There are also the Lucille Ball and Jack Benny classes which are for those exhibitors over 39 years of age.

Caring for these small horses is easy and can be performed safely by one of most any age. Feeding, washing and grooming are tasks easily learned by a six year old. The most rewarding aspect of Miniature Horse ownership is the togetherness and sharing that occurs as a result. It can be a learning experience for all and everyone will enjoy that sense of accomplishment. The thrill and satisfaction that comes from winning that first ribbon will make all of the hard work worthwhile.

It all began in 1986, while on vacation we purchased our first miniature horse, a 33 1/2 inch stallion "Bond Triumph" from Mr. C.M. Bond in Lavonia, Georgia. He told us then that we would never be satisfied with just one-- and he was right. Soon after we purchased a few 32-34 inch mares so we could raise our own foals and we were hooked when the first foal was born. With a current herd of over 50 horses, we are producing show quality appaloosa, pinto as well as solid colored foals from well known champion bloodlines. In doing so, we have established a breeding program aimed at producing a loving personality with the best conformation on the smallest horse while maintaining our arab conformation, tiny heads and expressive eyes.

In 1988, when it became time for us to choose a name for our farm, we decided on Fallen Star Ranch because of "Fallen Stars" or Teakties. Geoplaties are the rarest of all the teakties and 95% of all geoplaties are found very close to where our farm is located in Dodge County. And like the geoplaties, we consider our horses to be the rarest and most special of all horses.

Fallen Star Ranch is located in the heart of Georgia where our warm climate provides for year round grazing, which combined with supplemental grain feeding and intensified programs of deworming and vaccination enables us to produce healthy foals consistently.

Health problems are minimal and we have local vets along with equine specialists available to provide instructions and or assistance when needed.

We welcome you to see first hand the results of our breeding program, and we'll be glad to share our knowledge of miniatures with you - from health care to nutrition, from breeding to foaling.

We'll be happy to make reservations for you in Eastman. There are several modern motels as well as a Bed and Breakfast available. Please visit us.
